FBI Uncovers Cosa Nostra Burial Ground in New Jersey

JACKSON TOWNSHIP, N.J. — FBI agents using bulldozers churned up the muddy grounds of a suspected Cosa Nostra cemetery today in the search for more gangland murder victims. Two bodies already have been dug up.

In disclosing the probe Friday, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover issued a statement saying the search was the product of an extensive two-year investigation of the Cosa Nostra in New York and New Jersey.

Hoover said the investigation "specifically concerned a number of individuals who had disappeared, allegedly as a result of having incurred the disfavor of Cosa Nostra officials or leaders as far back as 1960, and who are thought to be buried on these sites."

Expected Find
The two bodies, which were found Thursday night in this sparsely populated area 60 miles from New York, were little more than skeletons in tattered remnants of clothing. The FBI made identification on the basis that it had expected to find two specific bodies at two specific points. It declined to say how it knew where the bodies were buried.

One body was tentatively identified as that of Angelo Sonnessa, who was 48 when he disappeared in September 1961.

His skeleton was turned over to Dr. Milton Helfern, chief medical examiner for New York City and one of the nation's foremost medical sleuths, for postmortem examination. The remains of the other victim, tentatively identified as Joseph Celso, 49, and his wife Kenneth Later, were shipped to the FBI laboratory in Washington for tests. Later, who was 55 when he disappeared on March 29, 1963, was identified as a New York City stockbroker.

Hydrochloric Acid
The bodies were found on what was once a 20-acre chicken farm. Later's body was found in an oil drum filled with hydrochloric acid and was largely disintegrated.

The owners of the farm, Joseph Vecchio, 46, and his wife Rose, 46, were arraigned Friday at Asbury Park as material witnesses.

The FBI said Sonnessa was a business partner of the late Joseph Vecchio in the All State Asphalt Co., a contracting firm in Nutley, N.J.

Vecchio was indicted in May 1960 with 29 other men alleged to be the prime distributing organization for heroin in the United States.

The FBI said Sonnessa "had allegedly gained the disfavor of an identified member of the Cosa Nostra who is presently serving a term in a federal penitentiary on a narcotics violation." The FBI declined to identify the narcotics violator by name.

An FBI spokesman would not say what, if any, link had been established between Later and the Cosa Nostra, but it is known that the crime syndicate has infiltrated some brokerage houses and has the money to manipulate some stock prices on various stock exchanges.

Sonnessa's body was found in a mash pit on the site of an abandoned liquor still. A plastic bag was tied around the head, with wire and the ankles were bound. The remains of a sport shirt also was uncovered.

Som of the casualties were said to have been children trampled when the crowd of several thousand panicked.

The general who was not named, reportedly had been sent to the southern Chinese city to suppress opponents of Mao in the Chinese Communist chair. man's prolonged struggle to gain unchallenged control of Red China.

If He Wins Election

Rep. Celler Predicts Powell Will be Seated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House will reverse itself and seat Adam Clayton Powell if the Harlem Democrat wins a special election next month, Rep. Emanuel Celler predicted today.

Celler, chairman of the select House committee that sat in judgment of Powell earlier this year, said his prediction was based on private talks with other members.

He said many members who voted March 1 against seating Powell have had second thoughts and now believe "it would be more expedient" to seat the Negro preacher-politician.

Changing Views
Celler, D-N.Y., said in a telephone interview from his New York office that he's "quite sure there would be more than enough members changing their viewpoint" to assure Powell's seating if Harlem voters elect him once more. Powell is a heavy favorite to win the April 11 special election.

"Suppose we refused to accept him again and they elect him again and he comes in a third time?" We would make a farce out of this thing."

The one Negro on Celler's select committee, Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., said in a separate telephone interview he also is sure the House would change its mind and seat Powell.

"A number of members realize that in trying to deal him such a grievous blow, they inadvertently did him a big favor," Conyers said. "And there isn't going to be a mood as vindictive as before."

But in a separate news conference Thursday, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said he believes the House is just as adamant on barring Powell as it was. An aide later said Ford also has found that some members have had second thoughts about their votes to exclude Powell.

"But that doesn't necessarily mean they will vote the other way," the aide said.

Dying of Brain Tumor

Terri Ann Goes for Last Ride on Train

BY JIM KLOBUCHAR
Minneapolis Star Writer

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Her fingernails were gaily polished red, her cheek dress freshly pressed. In her hair was the blue clasp she wore to birthday parties.

She was cradled in her mother's lap on the observation car of a train, a tiny young lady of five.

But she was a dying girl, taking her last train ride. She had been on a train two years before and remembered the excitement of its speed, the trees and houses racing by her window and the thumping underneath her.

Perhaps Tonight
She had laughed and squealed then but Friday her face was frozen into partial paralysis from a brain tumor that will take Terri Ann Duskin's life within weeks, perhaps tomorrow. Perhaps tonight.

Last week she was taken to the animal farm at Brookdale and later to an Easter display at a department store because her parents wished to give her what she would most enjoy in the final days of her life.

A porter lifted her tenderly from her wheel chair and carried her into the observation car for the 25-minute ride from Minneapolis to St. Paul. She lay limply in the arms of her mother, Mrs. Harry Duskin, wordless and impassive — but not in her heart and mind, for she can still remember and feel.

But the spreading brain growth has robbed her of the power to express herself with her lips and eyes.

Except that as the train began to glide out of the station the left side of her face formed a wan, crooked smile, and her mother tightened her own hand around the girl's.

Attorney Orders Silence

Suspect Charged With Coin Robbery

OSHKOSH — A suspect in last Sunday's $40,000 coin robbery in Menasha was being held in the three hours while an estimated two tons of coins were carried today, but his legal counsel said to a rear, attached garage and this morning the suspect is not being allowed to talk with authorities.

Lawrence V. Miller, 21, 603A W. South Park Ave., was promptly arraigned before County Judge James V. Sitter at 7:45 p.m. Friday after surrendering himself at the sheriff's office a half-hour before.

Miller was charged with armed robbery and his bail was set at $15,000. The suspect gave himself up after first consulting with his attorney, Henry Hughes of Oshkosh. The attorney said this morning it was unlikely that bail would be raised.

A warrant had been issued for Miller earlier this week after it was learned he had been missing from the city.

Aut' cities said the warrant was issued on the basis of identification of a photo of Miller by members of the Ervin Wanserski family, 428 Sixth St., Menasha.

FBI Warrant

The Federal Bureau of Investigation had issued a fugitive warrant for the suspect, in the belief he might have fled across state lines.

Dist. Atty. Thomas Fink revealed the issuance of the warrants Friday morning. He said Miller's wife, Kathy, 19, and their two children, Vicki, 3, and Nick, 15 months, also had disappeared and were being sought. The district attorney said this morning he had been told Mrs. Miller also was back, although Fink had not personally seen her.

Fink and other authorities working on the case have been reticent about revealing the progress of the investigation.

30,000 Students, Others Expected By Easter Sunday

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — City Court worked overtime today as more than 200 vacationing collegians — and nonstudent infiltrators — went on trial for shenanigans on the beach.

As court opened at 8 a.m., sun-burned youths were still being booked. Charges were mostly drunkenness, disorderly conduct and unlawful assembly.

Paddy wagons cruised at the beaches and picked up troublemakers. When police ran out of official vehicles, they put a truck into service, and took 33 persons to jail in one load.

The trouble began with rioting Friday afternoon. Thirty were arrested. About half of these were students.

Throw Rocks
Friday night several hundred youths threw rocks and bottles at cars. They broke the windshield of a police cruiser.

Police set up a command post on top of a restaurant at the beach and cautioned frolicking vacationers to "be calm."

Students continued to arrive from campuses of many states. Police said the total could reach 30,000 by Easter Sunday.

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces in the northern sector of South Vietnam shot up a 121-truck convoy Friday. In skirmishes and mortar attacks, the Reds killed 24 U. S. Marines and wounded 140 more.

The Communists ambushed the big South Vietnamese army convoy near Da Nang, leaving heavy South Vietnamese casualties and 57 trucks wrecked.

In the same battle zone Communist mines twice hit a U.S. Marine convoy, leaving three trucks burned and abandoned, three Leathernecks dead and 10 wounded.

The ground fighting swirled around 514-foot Con Thien Mountain just south of the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam. The rugged area is developing into a major trouble spot between the Marines and North Vietnamese regulars filtering down from the North.

Much of the ground action listed in Saturday's communiqué took place in Quang Tri Province which borders the zone.

The Communists are believed to have about 35,000 men in Quang Tri, the demilitarized zone and just to the north of it. The military spokesman said day fast" to protest slum housing. The war in Vietnam was the theme of services at two Lutheran churches in New York City.

In This Neighborhood
"Christ was crucified in this neighborhood this year," cried more than 200 Christians in Washington who followed such symbolic stations of the cross as racial strife, poverty, slum housing, crime and war through the poverty-stricken Mount Pleasant section of the capital.

Holy Saturday recalls the period of Christ's entombment and leads to the rejoicing of His resurrection. The Holy Saturday rites included the "blessing of the new fire," which starts a three-hour evening vigil ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica led by Pope Paul VI.

The vigil service will be climaxed with a papal mass of joy shortly before midnight commemorating the resurrection of Christ. At the same time, the bells of Rome's 400 churches will ring, led by the 10-ton master bell atop St. Peter's Basilica at the Vatican.

Easter Pilgrims
About 10,000 Easter pilgrims were in Old Jerusalem.

In the United States, Americans will celebrate Christ's resurrection in hundreds of sunrise services on mountaintops, in park groves, in tiny churches and in huge auditoriums.

The Pope will celebrate two masses Easter Sunday. At noon he will deliver his Easter message in which he will announce that he has prepared an encyclical on social justice.

In Good Friday services, many Christians in the United States took note of contemporary social issues and the war in Vietnam.

Amateur Ron Cerrudo Challenging Pros in Pensacola Golf Meet

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — "I've played against most of the best amateurs in the country. And there's really not much difference between the pros and the best amateurs," Cerrudo says. "I've been 11 years since the golf pros have been whipped by an amateur in one of their tournaments, but they were looking at me and they were looking at me."

Cerrudo happens to be one of the best amateurs. Many are acclaiming him the next young star of the game. He is cut from the mold of Arnold Palmer, a player he idolizes. He is a powerfully built 5-foot-11, 187 pounds with tremendous sloping shoulders, thin waist and the arms and hands of a do, member of Uncle Sam's Walker cup and World Cup teams.

Cerrudo, giving no indication of coming to earth, has put together a pair of hot 66s and was tied for second place with Homero Blancas at 133 going into the third round over the battered and reeling Pensacola Country Club course.

Not Nervous

"No. I'm not at all nervous or nervous about playing against the pros," said Cerrudo, 22, a former San Jose State athlete who missed tying for the National Amateur crown by a stroke last year.

Lone Vote for Illini Cast By Michigan

Only Big 10 School To Think Dismissal Penalty Too Harsh

CHICAGO (AP)—The University of Michigan entered the one dissenting vote when the Big Ten Saturday recommended dismissal of the University of Illinois for failure to fire three coaches. Chicago's American reported Friday.

The American's Harry Sheer wrote in a front page story that Michigan pleaded for a lesser penalty as the conference fully representatives acted finally in the Illini's $21,000 athletic slush fund scandal.

It was reported the vote was 8-1, with Illinois abstaining, favoring a mandate giving Illinois three days to fire head football coach Pete Elliott, head basketball coach Harry Combes and assistant basketball coach Howie Braun or face indefinite conference suspension.

The three coaches subsequently resigned on Sunday. First report was that Ohio State cast the negative vote, but Sheer wrote that Marcus Plant, Michigan faculty representative told him:

"It was the view of the Michigan athletic board and its faculty representatives that the removal of the coaches by the Big Ten was too extreme a penalty."

"What we preferred," Sheer quoted Plant, who also is president of the NCAA, "was a lesser penalty on the coaches and a greater penalty on the institution."

In Wednesday's Chicago Tribune, sports columnist Dave Condon wrote that Michigan athletic director H. O. (Fritz) Crisler cast a negative vote Feb. 22 as Big Ten directors originated the fire-the-coaches-or-else directives against Illinois.

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Michigan State stood a good chance today to become the first Big Ten team to win the NCAA wrestling championship in 35 years and only the second conference team in history to do it. Both were Michigan football stars under then Wolverine coach Crisler.

Meanwhile, it was reported that a 10-member committee designated by the Illinois State Legislature Wednesday to investigate Illinois "relations" with the Big Ten soon will subpoena Illinois witnesses to testify.

These include the three resigned coaches and the rechartered Illinois athletic director, Doug Mills. The legislators also are expected to ask athletic directors of the nine other Big Ten schools to appear before the committee.

UCLA, Dayton in NCAA Meet Finals

To Win Over Bruins Roll Houston '5'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "I predicted before the season started," said Houston basketball Coach Guy Lewis, "that UCLA would lose before the season ended. Time seems to be running out on that prediction."

Now it's up to Dayton and Don May.

Low Alcindor and the UCLA Bruins swept aside Houston 73-58 in the semifinals of the NCAA National Basketball Tournament Friday night and upped their season record to 29-0.

In an earlier game, Dayton's surprising Flyers shocked North Carolina 76-62 to set up the championship match tonight.

Lewis changed his prediction after his Cougars were defeated by the Bruins.

"I don't think any college team in the country will beat UCLA if UCLA will play — and UCLA will play," he said.

Will Play Well
Referring to tonight's championship game, Lewis said, "I think Dayton will play them, very well, but I don't think Dayton will win."

UCLA jumped off to a 16-11 lead early in the first half, but Houston rallied for its only lead of the game, 17-16, on a tip-in by Leary Lentz.

But the Bruins shot back to lead 39-23 at halftime and were never again in danger.

"Physically, they are as strong as any team we faced," UCLA Coach John Wooden said. "And I think a little more of our boy (Alcindor) than Elvin Hayes does."

Earlier, Hayes, Houston's All-American, had said Alcindor wasn't as good as he was supposed to be. And after facing the 7-foot-1½ Bruin, Hayes remained unimpressed.

24 Rebounds
Hayes won both the rebounding and scoring duel with Alcindor. The 6-foot-8 Hayes scored 25 points and grabbed 24 rebounds to 19 points and 20 rebounds for Alcindor.

If UCLA wins the championship, it will become only the fourth major-league team ever to go through a season undefeated and the second team to win three national titles in four years.

Much of Dayton's success was credited to the 6-foot-4 May who pumped in 34 points, mostly from the outside.

North Carolina and Houston play for third place before the UCLA-Dayton clash.

In the statistical showing, Lincoln was fourth. Wausau was second, Platteville third, Barron fifth, and Appleton and Whitefish Bay were tied for sixth. La Crosse Central ran last.

West, removed by Platteville from the championship bracket in the first round, was second in offense with a total of 208 points, third in rebounding and second best in avoiding making fouls.

Lincoln scored the most points — 250, and was No. 5 in defense, led in rebounding but was sixth in free throw accuracy, and California went into the final committed the most fouls.

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Brown, owner of the New York team in the new professional basketball league, said Friday that he had not signed Bill Bradley, the former Princeton All-American, to his team.

He plans to remain at Oxford until June, 1968.

Those missing only once were Losse and St. Mary's Mike Gage, while Tiedt, Fitzgerald, Xavier's Gene Jack, Kaukauna's Pat Kavanaugh and Neenah's Larry Handier missed twice.

Gage tallied the highest single game total of the season, hitting 37 against Stevens Point Pacelli. Fitzgerald collected 30 points or better on two occasions, and Tiedt totaled 20 or better in 12 of his 21 games to lead in those categories.

Of the 117 Fox Cities scorers, 66 were in twin digits at least once. 27 bettered the 20-point mark one or more times, and seven were in the 30-point range on one occasion.

Biggest Climb
Of the top 20 scorers, 11 were among the top 25 last season. Handier made the biggest climb, advancing from the 20th position to seventh. All the rest remained the same or climbed except for Gage, who fell from second to third.

The Fox Cities two state-ranked teams, Xavier (No. 8) and Neenah (No. 4) concluded their season with the best win-loss marks, having lost just two apiece, while winning 23 and 17, respectively.

Because of its opening-round loss in the WIAA tourney, Neenah played the fewest games (19). Appleton, the team that upset the Rockets and went on to take third in the Madison classic, battled 26 times.

Neenah's Rockets turned in the best offensive performance of the season when they ripped Kimberly for 100 points. Appleton sparked defensively all year, limiting Green Bay Preble to 27 in one meeting.

Overall, the Terrers were the best on defense, yielding 52.1 points per encounter. Neenah, Kaukauna and Xavier were the big offensive machines as they averaged 74.3, 71.1 and 70.0 per game.

Xavier put together the best offense and defense, posting an average winning margin of 13.4.

Health of Pitching Staff Big Question for Braves in 1967

Team Has Usual Good Power; Boyer Will Stabilize Infield

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Tony Cloninger pitched 13 innings in the Atlanta Braves' opening game of 1966 and had off-and-on arm trouble the rest of the season.

Denny Lemaster hurt his arm Aug. 19 and didn't pitch again. Wade Blasingame was plagued by a bad arm all year. Ken Johnson hurt his arm and missed several starts.

These were the Braves' problems last year, and until the arms are proved sound again, they could be their problems this year, too.

"We don't have anything we call a real problem," Manager Don Johnston said. "We just have some things to work out, mostly on the pitching staff."

Watch Health
"We feel we have a potential good staff, but their health will be very interesting to watch."

Collectively, Cloninger, Lemaster, Blasingame and Johnson won 63 games in 1965. That total dropped to 42 last season.

Except for Blasingame, that by Bragan as manager, and the group makes up the nucleus of Atlanta's starting rotation for this year. Dick Kelley and Pat Jarvis are the other two Hitches counting on for the rotation.

Behind them will be Blasingame, Bob Bruce and Don Schwall. Clay Carroll will head the relief staff.

Stabilize Infield
Offensively, the Braves should be as imposing as last year. Defensively, they should be better.

Clete Boyer, slick fielding third baseman acquired from the New York Yankees, is the reason the defense should improve.

Achievements By Romanians Please Laborer

Ion Pascu Likes Western Things, Ignores Politics

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — If he could, Ion Pascu would spend his vacation in Italy, driving a West German car. He likes French movies and an occasional bit of British beat, but he would not want his daughter to wear miniskirts.

Ion Pascu is not exclusively interested in the West, however. The slim, good-looking worker is one of Romania's 1.6 million Communist Party members and he is proud of what his country and his family have achieved during the past few years.

As a maintenance mechanic in Bucharest's Dacia textile factory he supervises West German equipment — "very good," Pascu is 30 and makes 1,600 lei a month, including overtime.

Under the official tourist rate of exchange, which reflects buying power, this is $38.38 a month, about 20 per cent above average for an industrial worker in this Balkan country.

Thirty per cent of Romania's labor force are women. Ion's pretty 29-year-old wife has a job in the same plant. As a laboratory assistant she makes 1,100 lei, putting the Pascus' combined monthly income at a relatively high $150.

"Right now, we have not much money left," Pascu told a reporter who talked to him in a wine shop close to the newly built housing areas ringing the capital.

"We have spent all our ready money furnishing our apartment," he explained. The Pascus moved into the new place in 1963. It includes two rooms, a bath, kitchen and a storage closet.

$10 Rent
They pay $10 a month for it, including heating, gas, electricity and other fringe costs. He estimates the family's monthly food bill at about $55.

Regular working hours for the couple are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. on a short Saturday, making a 48-hour week. Ion can turn in a maximum of 120 hours of paid overtime per year. For every hour additional he gets time off. Once a month he attends a party meeting.

When they have picked up their 6-year-old daughter Mihaila at the factory kindergarten, Ion reads Scintila, the party newspaper, or his favorite sports magazine.

Carpati, which sell at 2 1/2 lei — about 14 cents — for a pack of 20, is his favorite brand of cigarettes. The party newspaper seeks to curb smoking but Ion fears he'll get fat if he stops.

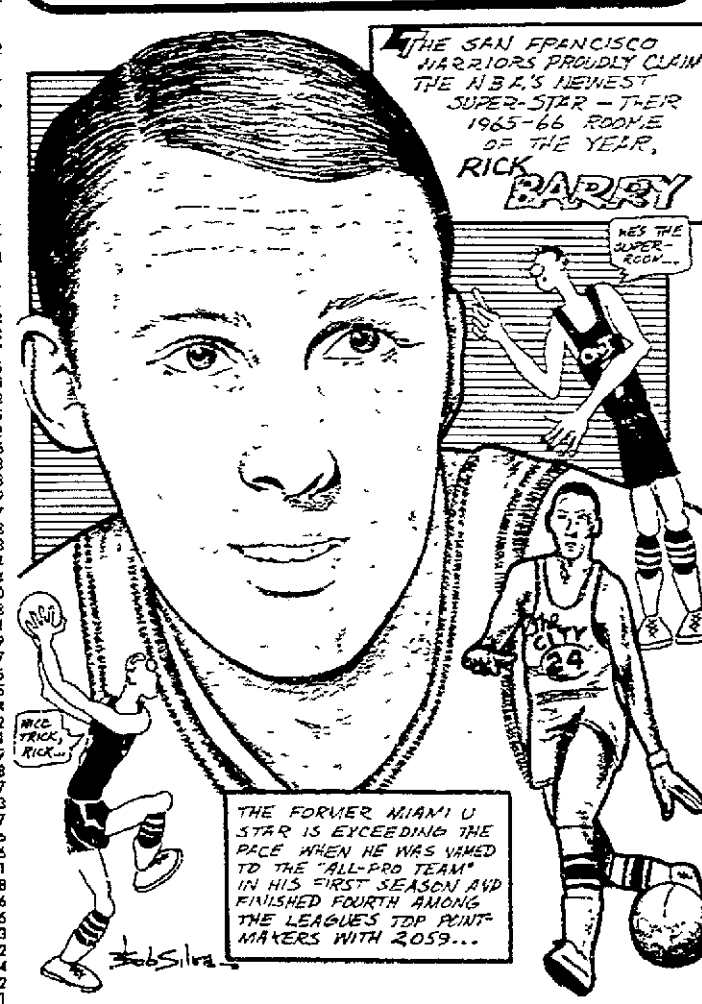

Watch TV
In the evening, the Pascus usually watch television on their 17-inch Soviet set — "very good." Operettas are among his favorites.

He likes to listen to beat music occasionally but he emphatically dislikes the Beatles hairdo and miniskirts. Both styles have virtually vanished in Bucharest after a morality campaign launched by the Communist youth organization.

In about five years, Pascu hopes to have saved enough money to buy a car. His favorite make is Mercedes, a German car predominant among Romania's top government officials. He realizes this would be too expensive, so he would be satisfied with a Renault, which is to be assembled in Romania starting in 1969 under an $80 million contract with the French.

For want of a dreamed-of vacation abroad, the Pascus spent $6.11 for a 12-day holiday at a union recreation center on the Black Sea or in the Romanian mountains.

90th Congress Lackadaisical, But With Cause

LBJ Not Able to Twist Arms as Much as Before

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 90th Congress, departing today for its Easter recess and due back April 3, could stay away longer without being missed. It didn't do much, although that's par for the course at this time of year.

Even when it returns it won't come close to matching the fabulous record of the 89th Congress of 1965-66. This is a much more negative, carping kind of Congress, more bent on cutting than launching big, new programs.

But the 89th, elected in 1964, also dawdled in its first few months in 1965. It was in the months after returning from Easter vacation that the 89th set a production record for Congress in this century.

Easier Time
President Johnson had a lot easier time getting what he wanted from the 89th where, thanks to the 1964 elections, his Democrats had overwhelming control of both houses.

Nevertheless, the voters weren't satisfied with the 89th's performance and in the 1966 elections gave the Republicans 48 Democratic seats in the House and three in the Senate.

After its first year, even the 89th calmed down. In their 1966 session the House and Senate acted as if they had done enough and given the executive branch enough new programs to handle for years.

Many Proposals
That mood seems to prevail in this Congress although the energetic Johnson has dumped a wagon-load of proposals on it.

So far it has done little except to make headlines with the financial dealings of two of its members: Adam Clayton Powell, a New York Negro Democrat, and Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

The House threw out Powell and the Senate ethics committee, whose report isn't in yet, exposed for all to see how Dodd got money from testimonial dinners and used it for his own private needs.

Arm-Twisting
But there's another basic reason why this Congress doesn't have much spark. In 1963, the year in which he began to intensify the war in Vietnam, Johnson could still concentrate on twisting the arm of House and Senate.

He got what he wanted. But now he is up to his neck in the war, just as he was in 1966, but more so, taking a clubbing from his critics, defending himself, and, as recent events revealed, trying to get North Vietnam to talk peace.

This doesn't give him — and it wouldn't give any president — the time he needs to do mission work for his domestic programs in Congress. Since he can't spend as much time on this as he otherwise could, it does much to explain why he hasn't been in any brawls with Congress.

Fairly Docile
Besides, the far-outrumbered Republicans were fairly docile in 1965. Now, because of the 1966 elections, they're getting their spunk back, talking up and back.

Since they have their eyes and their hopes on the 1968 elections, they can't afford to act like Johnson's sheep, which makes it harder for him to do business.

The biggest, most heated legislative achievement of the year up till now was Senate approval of this country's consular treaty with the Soviet Union, an approval Johnson badly wanted as a step toward better relations with Moscow.

Bent on Economy
Perhaps nothing better expressed the mood of the place than what happened Wednesday.

With almost solid Republican backing, the economy-bent members of the House sought to cut by 5 per cent a $7.5 billion appropriation bill to finance the Treasury and the Post Office Departments and the executive office of the President.

If it had ever passed both House and Senate, it would have cut the President's salary and spending allowances which come to $150,000 a year. But the effort failed and the House-approved bill went to the Senate.

Married Man Admires Wife's Whim of Steel

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a pavement Plato:
The more a man matures, the more he secretly comes to admire the iron whims of women. Those whims are the real pillars of civilization as we know it.

It is always a shock to a man to find out shortly after the honeymoon is over that the soft, compliant creature he married has a will of unyielding steel.

He gets an unpleasant surprise as she sets out to curb his wild bachelor ways and bend himself inexorably to her pattern of ordered domesticity.
"I thought my wife would go through life jumping every time I snapped my fingers," he confides to an older married buddy. "She may look like a little bunny, but inside her mind she has got claws like a tiger."

Everything Perfect
"They all have," replies the marital veteran. "What seems

French Don't Follow Official Anti-U. S. Line

Personal Relations At High Point; Says American Consul

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle is chasing the American soldiers out of France, but this seems to have scant effect on how his countrymen view Americans in general.

Of course everyone knows the two governments have many differences. But Perry Culley, American consul general in Paris, says "aside from these differences on the official level, relations have never been better."

Culley considers relations better now than in the immediate postwar years when he was an attaché in the embassy here. He said this is true of the whole country. He gets reports from consulates scattered throughout France — Strasbourg, Bordeaux, Lyon, Marseilles and Nice.

Fair in Poll
One public opinion survey firm, however, said that a sample poll earlier this year gave America only passing marks.

The question was, "Do you think America as a country is 'good,' or 'bad,' or something in between?" An official of the firm said the survey showed 36 per cent thought America is "good," while only 9 per cent said "bad." The other 55 per cent were in between.

On the same questionnaire, the Soviet Union rated slightly higher in the "good" category with 38. The "bad" rating was up to 17 per cent for the Soviets.

A rival public opinion polling institute recently asked Frenchmen about their major worries, or what they considered the world's most troublesome problems. Vietnam was one of the most frequent answers.

U.S. Not Blamed
An official of this poll said that some measure of anti-American feeling might be inferred from this sort of reply, but that few of the persons interviewed had in fact singled out the United States for blame.

The topic came up in a recent discussion in the American Center for Students and Artists. A writer for a leftist intellectual weekly said anti-American feeling exists, but he blamed most of it on ignorance of real conditions in America — on the racial question, for example — or on distorted propaganda on French radio and television, both run by the government.

A leading writer for the independent and widely read morning newspaper Le Figaro was asked about reports of anti-Americanism in France.

Le Figaro's circulation of more than 500,000 is largely in the middle and upper class brackets which have supplied most of De Gaulle's popular support.

Troop Expulsion
"It's absurd," he replied. "There may be a bit of it but it is greatly exaggerated." He said Le Figaro had received hundreds of letters from its readers in recent months on the expulsion of American troops from France.

Roughly 65 per cent protested De Gaulle's policies, while 20 per cent approved, he said. The others asked Le Figaro to explain what De Gaulle was up to.

Le Figaro's circulation of more than 500,000 is largely in the middle and upper class brackets which have supplied most of De Gaulle's popular support.

to be your main gripe about your bride?"
"Well, I don't know just how to say it, but she seems to want everything to be perfect."
"They're all that way."
"Every last one of them?"
"Every last one of them. And if you're smart, you'll start getting used to it right now. Otherwise you'll waste the best years of your life fighting her—and still wind up losing."

It is hard for a man to do this. Big Issue
He can't see why his bride gets angry if he comes home an hour late. He can't understand why she is annoyed if a restaurant headwaiter seals them at a table near the kitchen when, after all, the food tastes the same no matter where you sit.

He can't see why she wants to eat at home by candlelight, or why she gets in a blue funk if the new draperies hang an inch or two higher from the floor than she prefers, or why she squawks at the taxi driver if his cab isn't clean, or why she sends his shirts back to the laundry if the collars aren't properly ironed, or why she makes a big issue over half a hundred other matters which seem to him unimportant.

"Why make a war about it?" he asks her wonderingly.
"Because I like things to be done right," she tells him firmly.

It does no good for him to try to tell her there is no point in getting all stirred up over nothing. He quickly learns, if he is wise, the truth of the old saying: "A woman convinced against her will is of the same opinion still."

Sensibly, for his own peace of mind, he lets her have her way. Dimly, he gradually perceives the chief mental difference between men and women.

It is this:
On His Own
Man is by nature a lazy complainer. He is content to put up with second-best arrangements because he thinks it is too much of a nuisance to fight for anything better. Left to his own devices, he would still be carrying a spear in a forgotten forest, sleeping in the rain and scratching his back against the bark of trees.

Woman is made of more durable stuff. For her, life is one long crusade for perfection. She wants things to be not just half-right but exactly right—in every detail.

It is only because of woman's pursuit of perfection that railroads and airplanes run on the rails and napkins are on the table, streets are swept, men shave every day and smell better, and even homes have flower gardens. It is her quest for perfection that has put civilization where it is—wherever it is.

By being stern over such trifles, step by step she is making a better world for all. On, womankind, on!

Resolution Offers Optional Financing

Hortonville Trustee Suggests
Long-Term Plan for Developers

HORTONVILLE — A resolution which would allow sub-dividers to pay for public improvements over a period of years is being studied by the village board.

James Sommers, a village trustee, first brought the matter before the board about a month ago. Sommers felt that the present policy requiring developers to make immediate payments for improvements was hindering development of several prospective sites and that a long range financing program would encourage development within the village.

National Unions Seek Inclusion At K-C Plants

AFL-CIO Petitions
For Representation
At Two Locations

Two AFL-CIO international unions have petitioned for representation elections at Kimberly-Clark Corp. plants at Kimberly and Niagara.

In addition, one of the international unions has requested an election to represent a unit of 18 to 20 employees in K-C's main office at Neenah.

Hearing announcements were made by the region 30 office of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) at Milwaukee.

Attempts to wrest representation certification from the independent unions at Kimberly and Niagara mills have been unsuccessful over the years.

Hearings Scheduled

Hearings have been scheduled at Neenah, Appleton and Niagara Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday on the petitions of the United Brotherhood of Papermakers and Paperworkers Union and the United Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paperworkers Union.

The unions filed as joint petitioners (one entity) in seeking elections to represent an estimated 1,200 production and maintenance employees at the Kimberly mill.

In recent weeks, the unions have been distributing "educational materials" to mill employees. The internationals established an office at Kimberly sometime ago to lay the groundwork for the organizing campaign.

A hearing on the Kimberly mill election petition will be conducted by John Groth, NLRB agent, at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Workers Involved

An estimated 350 production and maintenance workers are involved in the petition for an election at the Niagara mill. The hearing on the petition is set for 10 a.m. Thursday at Niagara.

The Pulp and Sulphite and Papermakers Union also claims to be the representative bargaining agent for the K-C employees unit at the firm's Neenah office. The NLRB will be asked to rule whether the employees are an appropriate unit, and if so, to direct an election. A hearing is set for 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The two international unions have several locals that are the exclusive bargaining agents for production and maintenance workers in several Fox Cities area paper firms.

Last year the two unions struck at Kimberly-Clark plants at Neenah.

Runway Addition Requested for Oshkosh Port

OSHKOSH — A formal request to extend the new north-south runway at Winnebago County airport from the planned 6,700 feet to 7,000 feet will be submitted by the County Aviation Committee to the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) through the State Aeronautics Commission.

The FAA has requested "not four short taxways connecting the new runway to the parallel taxiway be widened from 50 to 75 feet. The estimated cost to the county for this widening is $14,913. Aviation Committee members are suggesting leaving the taxiways at 50 feet and applying this money to adding 300 feet to the south end of the runway.

Committee to Recommend New CATV Ordinance

Approval Follows Joint Session;
See Chance of Local Station

Should the present market the proposed ordinance was growth pattern continue in the voiced by attorney Franklin Fox Cities area, the day may Nehs, Appleton, representing not be too far away when Fox Cities Communications, Appleton will have its own Inc. television station.

The prediction came Thursday during a hearing at city hall on a proposed community antenna television (CATV) ordinance.

Formal approval of the final CATV draft, which aldermen said they wanted "as tight as possible for protection of the community," was recommended by the council's public safety and street-sanitation committees.

Final action on the ordinance — deliberated for more than a year — is expected when the council meets Wednesday night.

Casual Prediction

Comments that Appleton could conceivably get a new TV (UHF) station in the future were made casually by Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd) and others.

It was pointed out the Fond du Lac radio station has applied for a TV station for that city.

Talk of a possible TV station here was injected into Thursday's hearing when the question was raised whether the granting of a CATV franchise would preclude the start of a new television station locally.

Representatives of the broadcasting industry have claimed CATV represents a drawback to the growth of ultra high frequency television stations.

Stringent Requirements

The Appleton CATV ordinance sets forth stringent requirements for any firm wishing to establish an operation here, providing a $500 license cost and a stipulation the city receive 2 per cent of gross annual revenues. The contract is for 10 years.

The measure would prohibit duplication of programs broadcast locally by regional TV stations (three at Green Bay) and the actual origination of local programs by the CATV firm.

Under a CATV system, signals of television stations are picked up from distant places, providing the subscribers to the service with more viewing channels. In some instances, CATV operators have also engaged in local programming, the latter not falling under the jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission at this time.

Opposition to key features of invest about $750,000 to start CATV here, but under the terms of the ordinance, had no assurance it would be in business.

Objections to parts of the ordinance also came from Attorney Charles Lawe, representing Marcus CATV Systems, Inc. Midland Community Antenna Systems, Inc. was represented by Attorney Patrick Coughlin, Appleton.

Small Representation

Only three of the dozen firms — local, state and national — which expressed interest in starting CATV here several months ago were represented at the meeting. All had been notified.

Speaking on behalf of the broadcasting industry, and favoring most provisions of the proposed ordinance as realistic and almost identical to those of other Wisconsin cities, were V. I. Minahan, representing Post Corporation, Appleton, and R. O. Southard, Green Bay, WFRV-TV.

Post Corporation owns station WLUX-TV at Green Bay.

Ald. Paul Klemmer (11th), who will be stepping down from the council in two weeks after one term, again was the main objector to some of the CATV ordinance provisions.

Klemmer told the committee Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), council president, also had some reservations. Pointer was unable to attend the meeting.

Excellent Ordinance

However, Kalata felt the ordinance was "an excellent one" and was in effect establishing standards before — not after — a CATV operator wanted to come into Appleton.

Kalata said CATV stations should not be permitted to duplicate programs here, citing the Green Bay television stations provide this area with programs of three major networks.

He noted that Milwaukee stations, and those at Madison and Wausau, also provided network programs. However, Kalata said the three Green Bay stations that directly serve the Fox Valley could suffer severe economic hardship if viewers were siphoned off by far-away stations showing the same programs but different commercial announcements.

Noting that some CATV operators have indicated that they want to get into programming of local events, Kalata declared emphatically, "CATV was never meant to be a broadcast service. It is an antenna service to give viewers in fringe areas better reception."

A move by Klemmer to have the program duplication prohibition stricken from the ordinance died from lack of a second.

"I think we are getting into something here without having any prior experience with it," observed Ald. John Ayers (12th), who chaired the meeting. "The ordinance should be made as tight as possible at this time. I would rather see things taken out later, rather than have them not included at the outset."

Since 1959 he has been a member of the mathematics department at the State College of Iowa, Cedar Rapids.

His wife and three children will accompany him to the new assignment.

Car Hits Tree;
Driver Suffers
Minor Injuries

NEW LONDON — Norbert E. Wensel, 22, 108½ E. Cook St., received minor injuries about 1:15 a.m. Friday when his car went out of control on Beacon Avenue and hit a tree about 120 feet east of Algoma Street.

Wensel was taken to Community Hospital by city police where he was treated for a bump to the forehead, a bruised index finger, and abrasions to his right forearm.

Police said Wensel lost control of his car after he turned west off Mill Street onto Beacon Avenue and skidded on slush and sand on the roadway. The Wensel car travelled about one block before hitting the tree.

Minahan said duplication of programs would bring nothing new to local subscribers. He explained the basic objection of broadcasters was that "CATV is riding in free on a signal which we provide."

He cautioned that once established, a CATV firm could then do some separate programming, thus becoming in direct competition with the regional stations that now provide this area with good service.

Nehs emphasized the need for telecasting of "more local events" and said CATV would be in a position eventually to do so.

TV Station Suggested

"I would strongly suggest then that you build a television station rather than CATV system," Kalata declared.

Klemmer claimed rather than promote regional telecasting, the city should encourage local programming.

Low suggested city officials go to Dubuque, Iowa, and inspect the CATV operation there, describing it as a model one.

Firm Changes Mind On Building at Port

Appleton Officials Told Industry Plans to Construct Plant Within City Limits

City officials received notice today that the industrial firm planning to construct a new plant at the old airport has changed its mind and will relocate within Appleton.

The word came from Delmar F. Drumm, manager, the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce, in a letter to Ald. John MacDonald (7th), chairman of the city council's recent formed Commercial and Industrial Development Committee.

Drumm said the firm's decision was based on economic factors, but that it may at some future time consider the port property.

MacDonald, reacting to the information from Drumm, said he contacted Sylvester Esler, Outagamie County Board chairman, and obtained postponement of a special city-county meeting scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

The council's land acquisition committee and representatives of Outagamie County were to have met to finalize negotiations for the city purchasing some of the airport property to pave the way for developing the 153 acres into an industrial park.

To Use Time MacDonald said, however, that city officials would still make good use of the time Wednesday and put in an appearance before a legislative committee at Madison, which is considering liberalizing the state's annexation laws.

They asked me to inform you that this decision does not diminish their interest in or their desire to construct a new plant on the proposed site (airport property) in the future," Drumm wrote MacDonald. "However, the financial involvements made it mandatory to establish a new time-table."

Drumm suggested the city still pursue the development of the old airport property for as soon as construction program altogether possible.

The department was asked to confirm the statement of Harvett Stevens, chief administrator for the State Welfare Department, that the construction of a fourth colony for the care of mentally retarded patients has been deferred to the distant future, and the old airport property for as soon as construction program altogether possible.

Stevens asked the Wisconsin Association for Retarded Children to oppose such a project previously endorsed by the welfare administration, because alternative methods of caring for mentally defective children are available at less cost.

Training Centers He referred to the growing program of community training for the next two years.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My five daughters share one bedroom.

Finding their own clothes was a real problem until I solved it with the help of plastic lids from coffee and shortening cans.

I used a quarter for a pattern and cut a hole in the middle of each lid. With a marking pencil, I wrote each girl's name on a separate lid.

I slipped these marked lids on the poles across their closet and hung each girl's clothes between them. They are just like the size markers on the dress racks in large stores. If the pole isn't derachable, just slid the lid from the hole through to the outside and slip it on the pole.

The girls now keep their things completely separated and enjoy doing it.

This sure has saved my acting as an arbitrator during their arguments!

Mrs. J. Halay

Dear Heloise:

I have only one deep kettle for boiling a whole chicken, or a half a ham, etc. The pan is thin, and often whatever I boiled stuck to the bottom of the pan and burned.

I now wad up a double chunk of heavy-duty aluminum foil to fit the bottom of pan and this solved my problem when boiling meats.

The foil keeps the meat off the bottom of the kettle and was

Sheinwold Advice on Drawing Of Trump

According to Poor Alfred's Almanac, the time to eat your cake is while you still have it. If you want to put this in bridge terms, don't get rid of dummy's trumps before you've made good use of them.

Now, however, declarer led the 10 of hearts from dummy for a finesse. This was a step in the wrong direction, and the defenders shrewdly took declarer further along this path West won with the king of hearts and returned a trump.

South led a spade to dummy's queen, but East won with the ace of spades and led a third trump. This left only one trump in the dummy, and South found it was impossible to ruff two low spades when dummy had only one trump. He had to lose a second spade trick, and there went his game and rubber.

The POWER of FAITH

THE LORD IS RISEN!

It was a glorious day, that first Easter. A day full of wonderment and hope for those who loved Jesus. He appeared three times before his disciples. Mary Magdalene saw him and believed. Thomas doubted but was convinced. Jesus met Cleopas and another disciple on the road to Emmaus that first Easter Sunday afternoon. They did not recognize him. He pretended not to know of the recent tragic events, which they did not understand. He explained the full meaning of the prophecies to them and later on at supper in Emmaus, made himself known to them and vanished.

"And they said one to another, did not our heart burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the scriptures?"

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, March 25, the 84th day of 1967. There are 281 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1911, fire swept a 10-story loft building in New York City, taking the lives of some 147 persons. The historic Triangle Waist Co. fire triggered widespread reforms in laws governing factory working conditions.

On this date:

In 1776, the first Medal of Honor was awarded to Gen. George Washington for the capture of Boston.

In 1883, revolution broke out in Haiti.

In 1939, Adolf Hitler said the German people would stand shoulder to shoulder with the Italian nation.

In 1944, the German military commander in Rome announced the execution of 320 civilians in reprisal for the killing of 32 Nazi military policemen.

In 1946, a diamond worth almost $10,000 was stolen from the floor of the National Capitol in Havana. The diamond, belonging to the Cuban government, had been imbedded in the floor for decorative purposes.

Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower nominated Katherine Brownell Oettinger, dean of the School of Social Work at Boston University, to be chief of the Government's Children's Bureau.

Five years ago — France recalled its ambassador from Moscow and sent the Soviet ambassador to France home as a protest against the Soviet Union's recognition of the rebel provisional government in strife-torn Algeria.

One year ago — Five alpinists became the first men to conquer Mt. Eiger, Switzerland, by scaling the treacherous peak's vertical north wall.

Modernization Needed

Jesuit Training Greatly Updated From Aquinas

WOODSTOCK, Md. (AP) — Yet another new course is "The Problem of God," which includes inquiry into various modern theories, among them the "God is dead" viewpoint.

Teacher of this course, which surely would have been taboo in past times, is the Rev. John C. Murray, chief writer of the decree on religious liberty approved by the Ecumenical Council, Vatican II.

Protestant Roles

Protestant theology and the Protestant role in ecumenism also are studied.

"These days," said Father Cardegna, "the whole of theology has to be ecumenical or it's nothing. And it has to be in contact with the social problems and daily needs of people."

Of the 72 courses offered, 21 are elective. Seminarians have been going outside the school for some time to engage in social welfare work, but recently this activity has been greatly expanded.

Some students visit Baltimore each week to work in slum neighborhoods. Other seminarians pay regular visits to two nearby state mental hospitals.

Others visit Protestant churches and synagogues to explain the cultural activities of man.

Broad Support for Currie

Most persons who have observed the careers of such men as Walter J. Kohler, Bronson LaFollette, John W. Reynolds and Wilbur Renk would probably agree that the men and issues in state politics that might draw them together as a campaign team are very few.

Beautifying College Avenue

It was interesting to note at a recent meeting of a special committee studying plans for College Avenue beautification that representatives of several landscape architectural firms insisted if streetscaping is to be undertaken, "It should be done right, or not at all."

Explosion in Nigeria

For months there have been warnings from Africa that Nigeria was going to blow into all kinds of fragments. Now there is a deadline. On March 31 the time expires which the Eastern province gave to the federal regime in Lagos to loosen the federal ties.

Editor, Post-Crescent:
The trouble with the situation is that Mr. Awad is from the United Arab Republic and his country and Saudi Arabia are in competition for dominance in the Middle East in a number of areas. There may indeed be a remnant of slavery in Saudi Arabia and in African countries where tribal allegiance is primary to a lot of human rights but the evidence is slim.

Issue of Increased School Aids Troubles Many in Legislature

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — Resolution of the dispute about state school aid policy may well turn out to be the toughest of the political problems confronting the state administration and the legislature this year.

There are signs, moreover, that the issue is being widely misunderstood and perhaps misrepresented. This may make the settlement of the fight more difficult.

Typical of the insularity of attitudes in state-local fiscal relationship disputes is the demand of the Alliance of Cities, as the leaders of 19 of the larger cities of the state have called their new organization, about the "crisis" in municipal finance.

But what is there to be said about a political campaign that embraces all other cities with rates far below the state wide average for all property taxpayers? Is the anxiety of the mayors of cities with rates of $21 and $22 against a statewide average of more than $28 quite credible?

Clarifies Steiger Vote On Ousting of Powell

Editor, Post-Crescent:
The March 2nd Post-Crescent, under the headline "Three From State Vote Against Seating Powell — Representatives O'Konski, Schadeberg, Steiger Stand Against Harlem Democrat," Frances McKusick wrote:

Nordlander Letter Revolting

Editor, Post-Crescent:
A great big "thank you" to The Post-Crescent for giving me the opportunity to read the People's Forum letter from Robert Nordlander, Monday, March 20. The letter was revolting, disgusting and very upsetting. How a supposedly educated man, after studying the history of our people and country, and knowing what we and the accomplishments of our country stand for, can express views as put forth in his letter, I simply cannot understand. And furthermore, I hope I never am able to do so. I cannot help but wonder what kind of "sob" story he would render if "the rag called the flag" (Mr. Nordlander's words, not mine) had not been raised on Iwo Jima, Corregidor and a few other places. I also cannot help but wonder how Mr. Nordlander can explain the fact that he is able to express his views publicly through the newsprint media . . . Does he feel it's because man has no free will, is unintelligent and is bossed by political crocodiles?

A careful check of the record reveals Congressman Steiger voted to exclude Mr. Powell only when the alternative was seating him without punishment. In this vote only Congressman Kastenmeier, and Reuss voted to seat Mr. Powell.

Ann Says Teen Kidding Needs Certain Limits on Behavior

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Although I have told my daughter many of the same things she has read in your column, she insists I am old fashioned but she says you are the living end. Will you please help me out and express your views of a 17-year-old female who wrestles with her boy friend on the living room floor. What do you think of this behavior—even if she is wearing jeans?

The girl is a good student and sensible about most things, but for some mysterious reason she cannot understand why I object to her rolling around on the floor with her boy friend. Thank you, Ann—Mrs. T.H.R.

DEAR MRS. T.H.R.: This type of behavior is what I call "kidding on the square." It is not only unladylike but it is a teasing mechanism which could lead to trouble.

A 17-year-old girl should keep vertical when entertaining her boy friend. And she should be able to count four feet on the floor at all times—her two and his two.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For over a year I was very friendly with an attractive bachelor who lived in the apartment next door. He said I cooked just like his mother. Before I knew it, I was setting the table for two almost every night.

When he decided to pop in for breakfast I started on a change in tactics and moved to a building four blocks away. We had talked about marriage and I was sure he was serious about me. I thought the move would bring him around, but I was wrong.

Now I never see him unless I invite him for dinner. An old neighbor told me a career girl who rented my apartment is now cooking for him as I once did.

Do you think I was dumb to move? Please tell me because there will be another vacancy in that building soon and I can have it if I want it—Mom's Apple Pie

Dear Pie: This guy doesn't want to marry you, dearie. He only wants to eat with you. Let somebody else feed his face.

Dear Ann Landers: One of the best things about your column is that it makes our own troubles seem small when we read what other people have to put up with. I refer to the letter from the wife who was unhappy because her husband carried pictures of his parents in his wallet instead of her and the children.

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Attorney General La Follette, for a third time in three days, suggested Gov. Warren P. Knowles sponsor a conference between the NFO and dairies in Wisconsin.

Knowles, having told La Follette to ask federal help instead, sent a wire to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman urging federal mediation.

Knowles and other Republicans have charged that dairy products imported from foreign countries are hurting farm prices. He said the Johnson administration is responsible.

La Follette, after another mediation suggestion to Knowles, wired Freeman suggesting an increase in price supports. The attorney general is a Democrat.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duval, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duval, Ph.D.

True. We live in many worlds. We live in a world of physical environment—of things. We live in a cultural world—of ideas, ideals values and customs. We live in a world of language. This last is important because it is the tool with which we handle the other worlds. It is the raw material out of which our ideas are formed and shaped. It is the means whereby the knowledge of the past is communicated to those who live in the present. In some respects, the world of language is the most important of our worlds.

Is there one important secret of success?

Yes—No—Actually, there are several, but one of the most important is this: start out on the right foot. Speakers and writers sometimes work harder on their introductions than they do on the main body of their material. If you feel shy in a social situation, learn some things to say and do at the start, and you may find that you can get through the entire evening with success and enjoyment. A good start is not everything, but it can give you the confidence in yourself that you need to go on.

Should trouble-makers usually be suppressed?

Yes—No. Sometimes they should be encouraged. When he was on trial for his life as a trouble maker, Socrates based his whole defense upon the claim that what his enemies objected to, the doubts he stirred up, was the very thing that make him most valuable. We all tend to become complacent, and we need people to stir us up. A considerable amount of disturbance and disruption seems to be essential to progress.

ARE YOU DATE BAIT?

Should sex appeal be emphasized in dating? How far should you go? Pick up on the answers with the booklet, "What Teen-agers Should Know About Life, Love and Sex." Send 20 cents for booklet, along with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: "Let's Explore Your Mind," in care of The Post-Crescent.

Third Time

Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette, for a third time in three days, suggested Gov. Warren P. Knowles sponsor a conference between the NFO and dairies in Wisconsin.

Knowles, having told La Follette to ask federal help instead, sent a wire to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman urging federal mediation.

Knowles and other Republicans have charged that dairy products imported from foreign countries are hurting farm prices. He said the Johnson administration is responsible.

La Follette, after another mediation suggestion to Knowles, wired Freeman suggesting an increase in price supports. The attorney general is a Democrat.

If you feel shy in a social situation, learn some things to say and do at the start, and you may find that you can get through the entire evening with success and enjoyment. A good start is not everything, but it can give you the confidence in yourself that you need to go on.

Should trouble-makers usually be suppressed?

Yes—No. Sometimes they should be encouraged. When he was on trial for his life as a trouble maker, Socrates based his whole defense upon the claim that what his enemies objected to, the doubts he stirred up, was the very thing that make him most valuable. We all tend to become complacent, and we need people to stir us up. A considerable amount of disturbance and disruption seems to be essential to progress.

Ice Follies Opens April 26 In Milwaukee

In 31st Year, Show Follows Spectacular Pattern in New Form

Shipstad and Johnson Ice Follies will return to the Milwaukee Arena April 26 through April 30 with its all new 1967 production.

This year's show has broken all ice show attendance records at Madison Square Garden, New York, at the arena in Philadelphia. The North American ice show attendance record was broken during the 1967 appearance in Toronto at the Maple Leaf Gardens.

Now in its 31st year, Eddie and Roy Shipstad and Oscar Johnson are proud that their ice spectacular has been seen by more people, 64 million, than have seen the most successful motion picture ever attended, "Gone With the Wind", at 44 million.

Among those highlighting the 1967 Ice Follies and familiar to the Wisconsin audiences are

The highly skilled skaters again will be in dazzling costumes costing over $400,000. The extravaganza type of choreography and costuming long has been the performing trademark of the Ice Follies.

Ticket information for the Milwaukee show may be obtained by contacting the Milwaukee Arena box office, John Dean of the ice show is in charge of ticket sales for group attendance.

Stage Version Of Tolstoy Work Praised

APA Production of 'War-Peace' Called Surging Theater

By WILLIAM GLOVER AP Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — A vivid stage version of "War and Peace" caps the first Broadway season of the Association of Producing Artists.

The show, which opened recently at the Lyceum Theater, testifies admirably both to the repertory group's wide-ranging purpose and to its determination in sustained endeavor.

Two years ago APA began trying to fit the gargantuan sweep of Leo Tolstoy's famous novel into the confines of the dramatic stage, in a small off-Broadway auditorium. Results were worthy but a sense of shortcoming in the surroundings was inevitable.

In the present full-scale facilities, the wraps are off both visually and emotionally. James Tilton's revised settings admirably take advantage of the vast area available with multilevels, sliding side-scene panels and forests of sweeping scarlet banners for Napoleonic combat.

The company, directed by Ellis Rabb, moves on a grander scale as action alternates from long-range episodes of titanic war to the contrasting closeups of individual turmoil.

"War and Peace" is surging theater — to see and to remember.

Guests James Daly and Sorrell Booke give life to a time-worn Mission: Impossible story. An American envoy who is loved by the people of the country to which he is assigned, is kidnapped and replaced by a double. Aim of the game is to have the double discredit the U.S. government.

Satchmo Yearns for Time Off From Horn

Still Blowing Strong at 66, Popular Entertainer Not Seeking Retirement

By GENE HANDSAKER HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Louis Armstrong, still blowing strong at 66, is here on a three-week engagement with a wistful wish.

"I wouldn't abruptly retire. But I would like to cool it and take a year or so out. Make a world tour without the horn, say hello to all my fans and really see the places I've been."

Lucille, his wife of 25 years, added: "We've been over the Grand Canyon several times. We'd like to put our feet on the ground there sometime."

Booked Solid

But Louie is booked up at least through the rest of this year — Halifax, Nova Scotia, next, then Montreal, several U.S. universities, New York, Vancouver, England, Ireland, France, etc.

The man with the golden trumpet, piano-keyboard grin and gravelly tremolo was packing in the cats at the Ambassador Hotel's Coconut Grove. He and his troupe, the All Stars, sell happiness as well as music.

Days he sleeps, which means he sees little of the places he visits.

"You gotta take care of yourself," he growled in the sawmill voice made scratchy by a 54-year singing career. He appoints his trumpet-scarred lips with a salve made by a German manufacturer, with Armstrong's name on the label.

What keeps him going?

Lots of Handkerchiefs

"It's something you just can't say 'the hell with it,'" said Satch. "Your public won't understand."

Just out of the shower, he sat in his Ambassador suite in a yellow robe and leather-thong slippers, a white handkerchief tied over his head against drafts.

"Those handkerchiefs are a part of Louie," said Lucille. She estimated he takes 500-700 on tour, mopping his brow and holding the trumpet with them. Fans swipe some. He has stacks of them around the house back home in Queens, Long Island.

For a boy who learned the world,

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP) — Eighty freshmen at Harvey Mudd College have petitioned the engineering department to let them undertake the design and development of a better brassiere.

Proposed Project Uplift was outlined by David De Ford, 18, as follows:

"It could be approached like a bridge. There are stresses and strains to be considered, and the frequency of collapses."

Nadine Smith, 18, signed the petition but had reservations about the work. She foresaw a built-in problem.

"Lack of knowledge on the part of boys might be a handicap," she said.

Rep. William Steiger Distributes Wisconsin Cheddar to Colleagues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wisconsin aged cheddar cheese was distributed by Rep. William A. Steiger, R-Wis., to four dozen of his House colleagues this week.

The members receiving the cheese had signed a letter Steiger wrote to President Johnson calling for the release of a U.S. Tariff Commission report on dairy imports.

The report was submitted to Johnson 10 months ago.

Many members from dairy states have introduced legislation to curb dairy imports. Some have been critical of the administration for not taking action to limit imports.

What Causes Accidents?

Attention Turning From Auto to Driver Safety

By RUSSELL LANE

CHICAGO (AP) — Now that basic safety requirements for new cars are on the federal law books, some states are taking a second look at the drivers.

Are drivers the loose nuts which cause accidents? The thought seems implied in such pending legislation. The road ahead looks bumpy for the driver who takes to the bottle before he takes to the road. Heretofore, it's been difficult to obtain proof of drunkenness against the hail fellow who's still in sufficient control of his faculties to refuse a blood test.

Several legislatures are considering the implied consent law, drafted by traffic safety organizations. It would suspend or revoke the driving license of any motorist refusing to take an alcoholic determination test. Application for a license to drive, it says, implies consent to such examination if police believe a driver is intoxicated.

Bills Pending
This proposal is on the legislative agenda of Michigan, Maine, Indiana, Colorado, Ohio, Wisconsin, Washington, South Carolina and Texas.

Bills to provide for alcohol blood tests on the bodies of drivers and others killed in auto accidents are under consideration by the legislatures in Texas and Hawaii.

Such tests, made routinely in Chicago by order of the Cook County Coroner Andrew J. Tooman, showed that 23 of 41 drivers killed in one-car smashups during an 18-month period had been drinking.

In California a study showed that 7 of 10 drivers killed by smashing into something other than another car had been drinking.

Driver Examination
Auto inspection and periodic examination of drivers to reassess the fitness of both for the highway's rigors is getting widespread attention of the states again this year. There's a wrinkle in some states which involves spot inspection of both driver and vehicle.

The state of Washington has pending a bill which would authorize the state patrol to stop a motorist at any time to check the driver's license and the mechanical condition of his car. California initiated such an inspection program last year.

There is no attempt to set up the surprise road block testing which caused outrage among motorists in Illinois a few years back.

In California six five-man testing teams cull random drivers from the traffic streams for such checks, and the emphasis is on the condition of the vehicle. A defect found becomes a matter of compulsory correction.

A regular vehicle inspection law is on Washington's books, but there has been no pressure by officials for funds with which to apply it.

Other states are considering revamping their inspection programs. In Hawaii, the city of Honolulu wants to phase out its inspection by privately owned service stations. Gov. John A. Burns wants to junk Hawaii's lifetime driver license in favor of periodic reexamination.

A number of bills would clamp restrictions on motorcycle and scooter drivers. Ohio and Hawaii have proposals to make them wear crash helmets and goggles. Connecticut, Utah and Pennsylvania lawmakers have their eyes on cyclists.

Dozens of bills are aimed at correcting specific driver or vehicle faults, and some such measures are in the hoppers of nearly every state where the legislature is in session.

Some proposals stem directly from reaction to specific accidents, as in Massachusetts where more than 50 highway safety bills were drawn by the office of the state motor vehicle registrar. One, to require yearly physical examinations of drivers over 70, was prompted by a crash in Holyoke in which an 80-year-old woman died at the wheel of a heart attack. Her car plowed into 10 children and killed four.

A number of bills propose state-sponsored studies of accident causes and remedies. Others would apply the safety features of the new federal auto manufacture statute at the state level.

Six-Man Jury Finds Larsen Man Guilty Of Drunken Driving

OSHKOSH — Douglas C. Sutter, 35, route 1, Larsen, was found guilty by a six-man jury Thursday of driving while under the influence of intoxicants in Neenah March 15, 1966.

Sutter was arrested in the 300 block of N. Commercial St. by Neenah police. He pleaded innocent to the charge March 30, 1966.

Judge James V. Sitter adjourned the case to March 29 for motions after verdict.

Neenah Man Held On Morals Charge

OSHKOSH — Arthur Nadholz, 121½ W. Franklin St., Neenah, was charged with taking indecent liberties with a 9-year-old boy when he appeared in Winnebago County Court Branch 3.

Nadholz was arrested March 17 at his home. Nadholz requested a court-appointed attorney and Judge James V. Sitter set an indigency hearing for March 31. Nadholz is being held in jail on $1,000 bond.

Spring Thaws More Than Snow

Spring does more than thaw winter's snow. It brings Easter vacation from school, which means students working overtime to make the most of their temporary freedom.

As in the picture at top, taken at a Menasha street corner late this week, spring also works strong medicine upon the tops of convertibles.

Another effect is to bring deflated basketballs off the shelf to bloom with air, and be taken to the nearest outdoor court. Jefferson School playground, Menasha, was the scene.

And small-fry are not immune to a bit of "rushing the season," either. In lower photo, popskles were the first thought for the new season for Mickey Massey, left front; Laura Sheehy, center, and Beth Ann Tietz, all of Menasha.

A Six-Cylinder Ford demonstration motor and transmission were donated to the Appleton Vocational School by the Ford Motor Co., as part of the firm's annual grant program for technical schools. Examining the equipment are, from left, Richard Schmidt, trades and industry coordinator at AVS; Joseph Las-Casas, Ford field manager; Loren

Lillge, Van Steen Motor Co.; Bernard Harrington and F. M. Anderson, instructors. The grant program is carried out in cooperation with the local dealer. The equipment will be used for demonstration purposes in the auto mechanics classes at the school. (Post-Crescent Photo)

PMPC Asks Freeman for Conference

Review Differences In Dairy Industry; Plan Income Boost

FOND DU LAC — Paul Affeldt, president of Pure Milk Products Co-operative (PMPC), said Friday it is time that the Secretary of Agriculture or other high government officials call a meeting of dairy producer and farm organizations to review the differences in the industry and come up with a definite plan to improve dairy farm income.

"Milk dumping shows a marked farmer resentment to the administration's dairy policy," he said. The crucial dairy situation in the opinion of PMPC has been due to the failure or unwillingness of the executive branch of government to control the imports of butterfats and cheese.

"We would reiterate to the Secretary of Agriculture that dairy farm income could be improved by government actions to:

- Establish realistic dairy imports control under Section 22.
- Raise price supports to the legal maximum of $1.16 per cwt., or 90 per cent of parity equivalent.
- Increase Class I prices under federal orders.
- Buy dairy products for service, hospitals and relief agencies under Section 709."

Shawano, New London, Clintonville and Kimberly. Approximately 45 Kimberly students will be participating, including Kimberly High School April 1. Events are open to the public without charge.

Great Decisions Luncheons Speaker Says U.S. Must Change View on NATO

Any United States policy toward the NATO alliance which fails to take into account the desire of European nations for "a degree of national sovereignty" is apt to fail, in the opinion of Charles Breunig, professor and chairman of the Lawrence University history department.

Breunig told an audience of 35 at Thursday's Great Decisions luncheon at the Appleton YMCA that there is "no simple solution" to the problems of the alliance, but because a Soviet threat to Western Europe's security still exists, a policy of "collective security" remains essential.

Revise Concepts

"The U.S. will have to revise its conception of its position within the alliance," as a result, Breunig said.

The Lawrence professor spoke on the theme "NATO in Crisis: Will the Atlantic Alliance Survive?" The topic was second to last in an eight-week series of foreign policy programs sponsored by the Lawrence Alumni association in cooperation with the Foreign Policy association.

Breunig said that there is a legitimate question over the usefulness of the NATO alliance, particularly in view of a declining threat — in the opinion of some — of attack from the Soviet Union. Many Europeans and even some Americans are asking "whether the raison d'etre of the alliance is gone," he said.

On the other hand, some argue strongly that a Soviet threat still exists, and that there must be an alternative effort made to reform and strengthen NATO, perhaps using it as a means of relaxing tensions with the communists, he said.

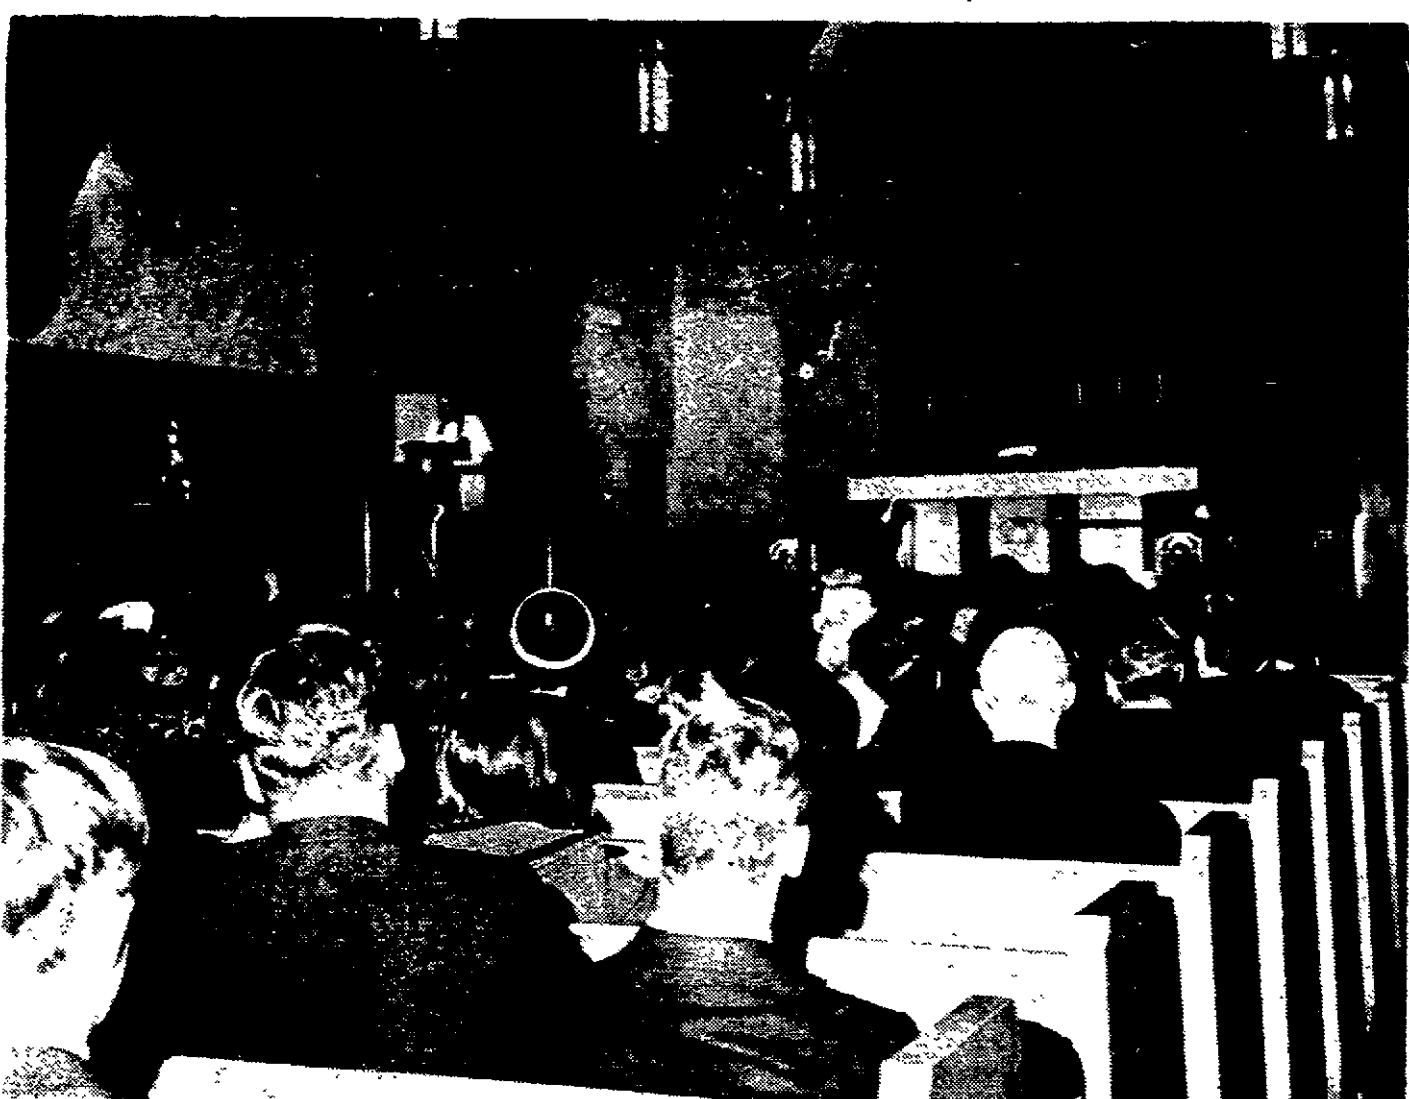

See Changes

Whatever the case, Breunig said, there is no doubt that the alliance sees itself differently from what it was in 1949, largely because of fundamental changes in circumstance and the relationship of powers within it.

These changes require that the U.S. evaluate carefully its policy of dealing "somewhat paternalistically and sometimes even patronizingly" with other members, and that it approach cautiously any encouragement

Like a New PA System Will Easter Bunny Eye Aldermen With Favor?

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Here's hoping the Easter Bunny has a new public address system for Appleton aldermen.

They have been hot under the collar for several weeks over the poor showing of the new equipment purchased for the council chambers months ago.

The system, which cost more than $3,000, has been called a "Goose Farm" along with other unmentionables.

Klement was released on $1,000 bond after an appearance before U.S. Commissioner John P. Duffy.

Aldermen concede the new system works well when it works, but it just hasn't been working enough.

The original idea for the new PA system was for aldermen better to hear each other, and extend to the audience in the southern portion of the council chambers a similar courtesy.

But the equipment has not been doing that.

Voices Protest

About a month ago, Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd) raised his voice in protest over the ornery system which was coming up with "snap, crackle and pop" sounds whenever anyone turned on a mike switch.

Kalata, who professionally is Bill Day of Radio Station WAPL, warned then the amplifier for the PA system had a defect.

Again last week the sound system acted up, giving out with sounds that at times disrupted council proceedings, and Day, who again took to the floor, along with some of his colleagues.

"I think the time has come to get this system checked out, or have this council order it be taken out," Day declared in his best radio voice. He did not, incidentally, use the microphone assigned to him.

"The idea of a public address system was fine," Kalata continued, but this thing has turned out to be nothing but a pain in the neck."

Amplifier Defect

Several aldermen nodded agreement. They, too, had their mikes turned off.

Kelner informed the council the city made no payment on the equipment yet and would not do so until it was operating satisfactorily.

Kalata said the latest sounds, sounds that at times disrupted council proceedings, and Day, who again took to the floor, along with some of his colleagues.

State Won't Build Fourth Mental Unit

Spokesman Cites Growing Number Of Local Cases

MADISON — A spokesman for the State Welfare Department has confirmed a report that the construction of a fourth colony for the care of mentally retarded patients has been deferred to the distant future, and may be removed from its big construction program altogether.

The department was asked to confirm the statement of Harvey Stevens, chief administrator of the latest and third colony recently opened, that the provision of a fourth institution would be undesirable because it would be too costly.

Stevens asked the Wisconsin Association for Retarded Children to oppose such a project previously endorsed by the welfare administration, because alternative methods of caring for mentally defective children are available at less cost.

Training Centers

He referred to the growing program of community training centers, special classes, and supervised home care for children.

Earlier state officials had discussed plans for a fourth big institution and suggested that it might suitably be built at a location to serve the Fox River Valley and populous eastern Wisconsin.

But the plan has been put at the bottom of the priorities list for a six-year period, and may be abandoned altogether, it was indicated, as demands for institution bed space is lessening as a result of enlarged community services for handicapped children.

Stevens estimated the cost of a new institution at about $15 million. Institution operations also are costly, he noted, explaining that the current state budget provides operating funds for the three existing colonies amounting to nearly $23 million for the next two years.

Mrs. Arch Hoffman, president of the league, and speaking for the league, said, "We urge the voters to vote 'yes' on the first five questions. (On the ballot separate questions are posed on changing the terms of the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, treasurer and secretary of state.) Educator Speaks

Lawrence D. Longley, de- partment of government, Law- rence University, said, "The proposals for four-year terms for governor an lieutenant governor are attempts to grant the governor sufficient power and time as to insure an efficient and responsible admin- istration. Democracy is little served by divided and weakened government; rather democratic control can best be insured by granting a state governor suffi- cient responsibility so that he might later be held accountable for his actions and those of his administration."

Mrs. Robert Taylor, Outagamie County Democratic chair- man, said, "One of the things we must do to make our state government an effective, viable force is to change the length of office of our constitutional officers from two to four years. Two years is just a beginning, a training period.

"Campaigns have become so time consuming and expensive that the officials are forced to spend a great deal of their time on the campaign trail. A four- year term would considerably reduce this campaigning, there- by allowing our elected officials more time to govern."

"Wisconsin is one of the few remaining states which has the two-year term. Let us make the change now so that we are not the only remaining one."

Pass Resolutions

Resolutions passed unani- mously at the annual Outagamie County Republican caucus, this month stated:

"Whereas the management and problems of the great State of Wisconsin become more com- plex each year;

And whereas time-consuming campaigning every two years takes the governor and other state officers from the desks and important duties.

And whereas less frequent state-wide elections would be less expensive to taxpayers, candidates and political parties;

And whereas public judg- ment at election time might well be more reasonably given on the basis of a four - year term;

Now therefore be it resolved that the Republican Party support the proposed referenda recommending four-year terms for state constitutional offi- cers."

The Republicans also adopted a resolution recommending the governor and lieutenant gover- nor run on one ticket, pointing out that having a governor and lieutenant governor of opposing political parties "has proven cumbersome and inefficient in the past."

Appleton Gets Claim From YMCA

The YMCA has filed a claim against the City of Appleton, stating equipment in its new building was damaged by a break in a city water main in the early morning hours of Feb. 25.

James Warrick, general sec- retary for the Y, wrote city officials the amount of damage has not been determined. How- ever, he said the figure would be sent the city when it is obtained.

"It is the position of the Y that the City of Appleton is negligently liable for the damages sustained as the result of the breakage of the city water main," Warrick said.

It was claimed that damage was caused to the Y premises at 218 E. Lawrence St., affect- ing fixtures and installations in the interior of the new building.

Warrick's letter will be offi- cially received by the city council Wednesday night.

Normal practice is to refer all claims to the board of public works and city attorney.
